

Why Facilitation is the SA Superpower

Jeff Escott

Nisha Dekhtawala

It's Tuesday at 10am in the hallway at AnyCorp

The Presenter Trap

The cycle most SAs fall into

Show up with 47 slides

Talk for 45 minutes

Customer nods politely

Hear nothing back

Repeat

Result:

No decisions made.

No follow-up.

No momentum.

Become a Solutions Architect

Three Mental Shifts

From presenter to facilitator

- 1 Your job is to make the room smart, not be smart
- 2 Decisions happen when customers say things out loud, not when they hear things
- 3 Your value is in the questions, not the answers

Become a Solutions Architect

Reframe the Request

What customers ask vs. what they need

What they say

"Come present on containers"

"Help us decide if containers are right for us"

"Show us cloud migration"

"Help us choose which workload moves first"

"Give us a serverless overview"

"Help us decide where serverless fits"

BeSA Become a Solutions Architect

The Outcome Gap

Two patterns, two trajectories

The Presenting SA

The Facilitating SA

If we're not building slide decks, what ARE we building?

Next Week

Designing Working Sessions That Drive Outcomes

How to drive a decision in 60 minutes or less

Become a Solution Architect

Enhance your Technical and Behavioural Skills